Impressive Religious Services at the Pavilion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—The religious ceremony of Knights Templar at the Pavilion yesterday afternoon was a terrific crush to many—almost a funeral service. Although it was announced to begin at 2 o'clock, as early as midday crowds began gathering within the precincts of the new City Hall and Pavilion to see the procession of Knights arrive. By 1 o'clock the crowd of people had assumed formidable proportions, comprising the arrival of those who possessed tickets of admission and those who were obliged to content themselves with an outside view. From that time up to 3 o'clock the crowd became denser and denser until both on Larkin and Market streets for a distance of a quarter of a mile nothing could pass except the street cars, each provided with double dummies, loaded down with new arrivals. When the doors of the Pavilion were thrown open, already over five thousand persons having tickets were massed together awaiting an entrance. The moment the doors were opened a rush was made and only by superhuman efforts on the part of a strong body of police were serious accidents prevented. Had the rush continued many young girls and even grown up people would have been crushed to death. The crowd was made to understand through violent howling by police officers that if they would only take things quietly there was plenty of time to get in before the Knights arrived. From that time things went on more smoothly, even too slowly to suit the crowd. The interior arrangements of the Pavilion were necessarily such, through the raised seats at the eastern end, as to render the entrance to the building slow, so that by the time the procession arrived there were still outside between 3,000 and 4,000 persons still to go in. When the head of the column of knights reached the entrance of the door, visitors were obliged to give way to permit the knights to pass in, and when it was done it was found that the enormous building was then apparently filled as closely as it could be packed. Orders were immediately issued to allow none but ladies in. This was only the signal for a greater crush than ever, the order creating counter currents, many ladies refusing to go in alone without their escorts. Others pushed forward with all their strength. Then the crowd was every few minutes jostled to its center in the eddeavors to carry out fainting women through the dense living mass and in every case only accomplished with the greatest effort. When the fact was made known that several women had fainted, the crowd began to sober up and conclude it would be useless to make any farther attempt to gain entrance and so quietly dispersed. While so many were attempting to gain entrance there were many who were only too glad to get out by the exit door, being overcome with the heat inside. It is estimated that there were in the Pavilion nearly 8000 persons, including nearly 2000 Knights, while there remained outside between 3900 and 4000 provided with tickets unable to get in. It is the first evidence of mismanagement on the part of the committee, they having good-naturedly issued about twice as many invitations as the building could conveniently hold.

THE SCENE IN THE PAVILION

was an impressive one not soon to be forgotten by those who had the good fortune to witness it. The Knights assembled at Masonic Temple on Market street and those adjoining, and as the Grand Commandery moved up, other Commanderies fell into line, marching up Market street. A greater number of Commanderies went separately, so that instead of making one continuous procession it was a number of processions coming along one after the other. Shortly after the arrival of Grand Commander Dean, with the Grand Encampment, services were ordered to commence, all members of the Encampment being present, with about 2000 Knights in full dress uniform, with swords, occupying the body of the pavilion.

Viewed from one of the raised seats at the end of the hall the sight was a magnificent one. The raised dais of the Grand Commander at the extreme end, occupied to its fullest extent by his handsomely-clad escort, facing the Grand Commander, the two thousand Knights, with their velvet embroidered cloaks, and plumed hats, swords reversed; cross hilts level with their eyes saluting the Grand Encampment, and on either side on raised seats extending almost to the top of the building were thousands and thousands of handsomely dressed ladies and gentlemen. It is no exaggeration to say that it was an impressive scene, and when the opening hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldier," was given, started by the 2000 Templar Knights taken up by 6000 other voices, the sighand impressions conveyed may be imt agi e d, but are impossible to describe. When the hymn was finished, the order was given to "Carry swords: return swords; uncover," and the General Confession was read by the Grand Prelate and repeated by all the Knights, after which the Declaration of Absolution was read, and other religious services followed. The sermon was delivered by Very Rev. Sir Clinton Lock, of Chicago, Grand Prelate, and was listened to with marked attention. The benediction followed, the recessoral hymn closing the religious ceremonies.

The Striking Telegraph Operators Going to Work.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Superintendent Humeston, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was kept busy this morning receiving applications for reemployment from the striking operators. About 100 male operators have been taken back since the strike ended; five more were re-employed this morning. Sixty ladies went on the strike and of this number only twenty were taken back. It is expected that twenty-five more will be taken this week. All the linemen who apply for reinstatement are rejected with the answer that their places have been filled. Nearly all the branch offices open this morning. Jay Gould has expressed great satisfaction with General Eckert's management during the strike and the success resulting from it. He expects that the Company will be able to find positions for nearly all the strikers within a couple of weeks. He emphatically denies any disposition on the part of the Company to punish the strikers by refusing them employment.

Revolting Excesses.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—This morning the Times commenting on the language used of late in the House of Commons by a number of members from Ireland, and particularly that of Healy in his response on Saturday last to Gladstone's remarks, when the latter declared there was a state of war between England and Ireland, says: "Sterner demeanor on the part of the House will before long be necessary in view of these revolting excesses."

Foreign Exchange Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Sterling bills on London, 60 days, $4 85; sterling bills on London sight drafts, $4 86¼; U. S. 4½s of 1891, interest quarterly, $1 13½; U. S. 4s of 1907, interest quarterly, $1 19; U. S. 3s, $1 03½; W. U Telegraph, 76¼.

NOBODY CAN DENY.

Consumers can depend upon the NEW ENGLAND BAKING POWDER as being exactly as represented. It is Cream of Tartar and Bicarbonate of Soda of perfect purity, scientifically combined; NOTHING ELSE.

The price of the NEW ENGLAND BAKING POWDER justifies the use of the very best materials. Consumers pay a fair price for the best and get it.

It is self-evident that Baking Powders represented to be composed of the same materials as the NEW ENGLAND, and which are sold to dealers at less than the pure materials themselves are worth, cannot be pure.

The large demand for NEW ENGLAND BAKING POWDER, and consequent failing off in sales of adulterated and inferior powders, has developed a spitefulness on the part of some manufacturers and dealers. Finding that the quality of the NEW ENGLAND cannot be successfully attacked, new brands and close imitations, represented to be as good, are put on the market. With these they endeavor to tempt dealers with low prices, and thus impose on consumers.

BAD SEWERAGE AND INFANT MORTALITY.

IF all the slaughtered infants who have died, the innocent victims of criminal neglect in the matter of bad sewerage and imperfect drainage, could rise up to condemn us, they would form a larger army than could be gathered upon any other ground.

Dr. C. A. Lindsley, Health Officer of New Haven, Conn., writes to the Palladium that thirty-four out of forty-three deaths from infantile diarrhœa, occurring in different parts of the city during July, were upon "streets in which there is no sewer, and in houses about which are still tolerated those beastly abominations called cesspools and privy vaults. In most of the nine cases where the houses had sewer connections they were only for kitchen and laundry purposes, and the stinking privy still maintained its position in the back yard. Observe this fact also: A considerable majority of the population of New Haven reside upon the sewered streets, and yet only nine out of the forty-three deaths from a disease which is chiefly caused by foul air occurs among the majority, while thirty-four of the forty-three are among the minority who reside in dwellings surrounded by the fragrant companionship of time-honored filth-pits."

There can be no question as to our responsibility in these matters. Science, too, has demonstrated the causes of disease and the sources from which they arise to make them a matter of question. Filth is invariably a prolific source of mortality. Dr. Stuart, Health Commissioner of Baltimore, in his annual report, recently published, states that in almost every instance the dipththeria, which, with some small-pox cases, were the exceptions to the general good health of the city last year, could be traced to defective city sewers and house drains.

That Los Angeles has escaped the prevalence of disease thus far is not owing to the absence of foul odors, stinking cesspools or perfect sewerage, but rather to the remarkable healthfulness of her climate. But our past exemption from general sickness in any form does not assure a like freedom from disease in the future. Sooner or later, where inducing causes of sickness exist, the penalty has to be paid, and it would be wisdom, as our warmest months of September and October are approaching, to have all the filth and other vile odors which offend in different portions of the city disposed of. There is no excuse for their existence. Los Angeles may be easily purified from her inmost to her outmost borders and be made a city fair to behold, noted for the salubrity of its climate and the healthfulness of its people.

MEXICO, with all her revolutionary and transition tendencies, is far in advance of the United States as regards divorces. She looks with horror upon any land that shall give to them sanction and validity. The simple proposal of a divorce law in Mexico has created great consternation. The law is looked upon as a blow to the Catholic church, and conservatives think it would be worse than revolution. But with us divorces are matters of every-day occurrence, and are regarded simply as an evil that must be endured. The inexcusable grounds, and the criminality of many of these are largely overlooked by the majority of community, and while there is an under current of public sentiment which condemns them, it is not strong enough to make our easy divorce system as abhorrent in the eyes of the public as it should be. Any ill-mated couple can easily find a legal tool, who, for the consideration of a few dollars, is ready, upon any pretext whatever, to furnish the necessary papers to annul the marriage relation. Let us sit at the feet of our sister republic and learn of her in this matter. Let us remember that it is in the sacredness of the marriage relation, and in the sanctity of the home lies the hope for the future of this republic.

THE question as to whom one has a right to marry ought to be settled before long in England. It is not the deceased wife's sister who is being canvassed just now, but the deceased wife's niece. Some property was left to three brothers in succession, or to descend to their legitimate children. One died without issue, the second was twice married, the second marriage being to the niece of his first wife, and by the second marriage he had children who claim the estate. The heirs of the third brother resist this on the ground that their cousins are not legitimate, the father having married within the prohibited degrees of relationship. This is the main point at issue, and no decision has yet been reached.

MICHIGAN proposes to educate the rising generation to a knowledge of the evils arising from the use of alcoholic drinks. It is a step in the right direction. The great mass of people give the evil effects of this vice but little consideration, so far as the physiological and hygienic results upon the human system are concerned. But the Michigan legislature by a vote of sixty-eight for, to thirteen against, in the House, and two adverse in the Senate, has passed an act which has the following provisions: "District school boards shall specify the studies to be pursued in the district, providing always provision shall be made for instructing all pupils in every school in physiology and hygiene, with special reference to the effects of alcoholic drinks, stimulants and narcotics generally, upon the human system. No certificate shall be granted to any person to teach in the schools of Michigan on and after September 1st, 1884, who has not passed a satisfactory examination in physiology and hygiene, with particular reference to the effect of alcoholic drinks, narcotics and stimulants upon the human system."

THE Record Union in speaking of the successful experiments made in potato drying, in fruit evaporators, by a gentleman of the Montecito valley, locates that beautiful valley in San Bernardino county, which is a long ways out of the way. The Monte cito is one of the loveliest suburbs of Santa Barbara, lying about three miles from the city, filled with charming suburban homes, fine orchards and vineyards. It is as lovely a little garden spot as can be found upon the coast, is the home of the big grape-vine sent to the Centennial at Philadelphia, and nestling between the mountains and the sea, is as fair a spot for homes as can be found under the skies of California.

THERE are many hopeful signs of progress in the South, not least among which is the recogaition of the necessity of a better educational system. The Savannah News calls attention to the demand for a reform in this direction, and asserts that the South needs to give attention to this matter. The progress of a correct educational system, it remarks, has been proven by the North to be slow, and the South cannot expect it will be rapid, but it should be thorough and in the best directions. That is gratifying talk to hear from a prominent Southern journal.

SANTA FE is moving in the matter of a permanent mineral exhibit. The fine mineral wealth displayed at the tertio-millenial, to which shall be added specimen ores from the districts not there represented, this exhibit to be placed at the State house, and to be opened to visitors every day of the year. It would doubtless be a fine advertisement for the territory.

A COMMITTEE will canvass the city to-day for the purpose of receiving subscriptions to a fund to defray the expense of entertaining the Knights Templar who will return home by the southern route. $3000 will be needed and five citizens offer to start the subscription with $100 each.

MR. C. W. WHITEHEAD, of the Santa Barbara Press, an old journalist and a forcible writer, has severed his connection with that paper. It will be a loss both to the Press, and the people of that city.

"VENGEANCE is mine, and I will repay, saith the Lord," is a text that Mr. Dorsey should treasure up, in his memory, then perhaps he would not talk so much, nor so wildly.

ALREADY the weather prophets are busy, and are predicting an early winter and heavy rains. The rains will be welcome, with the resultant expectations of good crops.

THIS issue of the TIMES is unusually replete with matter of local interest.

CURRENT NOTES AND COMMENTS

Among all those who are crying "turn out the rascals," none are more in earnest or louder and longer in their howlings than Dorsey.

Govenor Blackburn of Kentucky has pardoned the worst horse-thief in the penitentiary. He evidently believes in turning the rascals out.

For Chief Justice.

The Argonaut says:

If the Governor will indulge us in approaching the steps of the Democratic throne with the offering of gratuitous advice, we would, in the happening of the first contingency—viz: the resignation of Mr. Chief Justice Morrison—name Mr. Jackson Temple as thoroughly qualified in legal point of learning, with an admirable judicial temperament, with courage which always accompanies the convictions of intellectual and honest minds, as a fitting and most excellent appointment to the position of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of California, and one that would relieve the Executive of all embarrassment of the half dozen bargains laid out for him.

Copying this, the Santa Rosa Republican (a Democratic paper) adds:

The judiciary ought to be above and uncontaminated in the pool of politics, filthy or otherwise, and if Governor Stoneman can rise to the elevation of that sentiment he will accept the advice of the erratic Pixley. No more righteous Judge can fill that lofty Bench; no citizen more pure; no lawyer more competent and worthy. No Democrat can question his principles of genuine Democratic standard; no Republican will hesitate to vouch for his incorruptible integrity. Of all men he is the man for the place. Sonoma can ill afford to spare him, only that she is imbued with the true spirit of the greatest good to all.

A Climber.

Toledo Telegram.]

Three days after the Kentucky election, there were nine lively candidates for the Speakership heard from, and yet the railroad and telegraphic communication is limited in that State. When the "saddle-bag" members are heard from, the list of aspirants will doubtless reach a score or more. The average Democrat is a "climber" and he no sooner gets fairly upon one round of "fame's ladder" than he reaches for another.

The One Fool of the Rebellion.

Toledo Telegram.]

Jefferson Davis seems to be the one fool of the rebellion who is incapable of learning even from experience. He seems to think he is posing grandly before the twenty centuries of that old sarcophagus, Jere Black: while as matter of fact he is simply exhibiting the tottering limbs and spiteful ill temper of a decayed old politician.

"MODEL MANHOOD."

Relation of Health to Intellect, Muscle and Brain—The Next Political Conflict in America.

At the Presbyterian Church, last Sunday evening, Rev. J. W. Ellis delivered the third lecture of the present series, the subject being "Model Manhood." The lecture was interesting and the audience was large and attentive. The speaker claimed that the noblest effort to which man can devote his energies is to the building up of the best qualities of manhood in himself and others. To this end the moral worker might better give the best thoughts of his mind and the purest desires of his heart. Every man in his youth has before him the choice of receiving and wearing a crown of beauty, or of choosing and bearing the mark of infamy. This fact may be seen in the case of the two brothers—Absalom, the fallen prince, and Solomon, the wise son, both coming from the royal palace of their kingly father. Absalom was a young man of bad principles. The end of his life was in harmony with the principles of his practice.

Never from rock or headland did beacon gleam with clearer light than that which flashes from the career of this dissolute prince, to tell young men of perils that lie before them. The speaker commended to the young men the careful study of the lives of these two brothers, Absalom and Solomon. Every student of character will observe that Absalom in his day was a clear type of our type of a fast young man. To him personal appearance was of more importance than personal character. His hair weighed more than his brains, and his brains were heavier than his moral principles. A good sound moral principle is the sheet-anchor to a man's life and will save a young man from being wrecked in the storms to which early manhood is subjected.

DAVID AND ABSALOM.

For many days there had been silence in the royal palace at Jerusalem. The armed sentinels at the gates gave their challenges in subdued tones. In the royal bed-chamber no sound was heard but the whispers of the attendants and the moans of the dying king. David sends for his son Solomon to give him his dying charge. Solomon arises from beside the couch of death, and like a sprout springing up from the old stump, with the same sap and leaf, he goes forth to rule the people in the stead of the renowned father. Now is a query in the minds of the people: Will he grow in favor with the people? The statement of the Word in respect to the Saviour was: "Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man." The man who becomes renowned is the same who has in his youth the elements of a true manhood. To this end the stoics and philosophers wrote, Marcus and Aurelius and Seneca among the Romans, Plato and Socrates among the Asiatics. Farther on, and St. Paul taught that God gave various grades of teachers for the edifying of the body, till we all came into the "unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man." To this end has God wrought—to bring men to the royal standard of a true model manhood.

PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT.

The rapid decline of our own race in own country, the vast army of invalids in every quarter, the slender boys of from twelve to seventeen years, and the more delicate girls all prove to us that the American idea of education is away from the physical culture and towards the so-called "fine arts." The boy is kept in the library in a cleanly apron, and the girl applies the brush and breathes the compound of paints, enjoying variety only through an hour's application to the piano. As an out-door recreation they are given an hour's drive in the family carriage through the crowded streets or on the dusty high-way. Do you doubt our idea of the cause of physical weakness? History is our support. From whence come the men now governing the affairs of our nation? From the city parlor, the artist's studio, the lawyer's office, or the millionaire's carriage? By no means. Instead, they come from the prairies of Illinois, from the canals of Ohio, from the farms of New York, and from the ranches of the Pacific Coast. This shows that a clear intellect is the result of an active body. There are young men who sit for hours in a room where tobacco-smoke is thick enough to be cut with a knife, watching a game of billiards. Ask them why they sit there and they answer, for the want of a home. The speaker would suggest that there is a hall in this city where the athletes meet to exercise and develope the physical body; also very near it is a free library. The young man who will spend one hour of the evening in the athletes hall can afford to sit two hours in the library, thus building a sound mind upon a sound body. The physical form is but the foundation for the real man. Man may be as faultless in form as Apollo, as swift of foot as Achilles, and as strong as Ajax, but with only the physical culture he is but as the sleek hound, or a well-groomed race horse, or a show-man's lion.

THE NEXT GREAT CONFLICT.

The second element of manhood as a model, is a proper culture of the intellect. There was a time when the so-called common people spoke of the so-called higher classes as exceptional and distinctive, with a feeling of disregard for the cause which has led to it. That age has come to an end. Why? Because all classes have learned that in a free republic the only line of distinction is the intellectual. As soon as the peasant has set foot across that line he is one of the princes of royalty. The time is very near when the great struggle will ensue between political parties in this country, and the divtding line will be the basis of education. The perpetuity of our national principles, the safety of our nation's life and the purity of the ballot-box will depend upon an educational basis for the rights of citizenship. As Garrison, Phillips, Beecher and Brown were to the death of slavery, so will there be within the next decade the forerunner of freedom from the bondage of ignorance and slavery to the lash of party politics. Already the commencement is seen in the city of Los Angeles. Already the forces of ignorance and filth are working here. On this Sabbath day a pretended Justice of the Peace is holding court, and one hundred men are working on a railroad in the streets of the city. Ignorance and filth against cleanliness and intelligence. The man whose entire capital is manual labor by a pair of stalwart arms, has but little to do in this world save stand and see how far the results of developed intellect are leaving him behind. A man's wages depend upon how much mind he puts into his work. It is not how rapidly he drives the plane, but how accurately he planes to a prescribed plan.

MEN WANTED.

But at the same time it must be remembered that no degree of mind force and culture, considered by itself, or coupled with physical prowess, constitutes a model manhood. To develope one or even two parts of our being is not to complete the man. Bring me the most perfect specimen of athletic training ever produced, and if bone and flesh and sinew is his all I call him but one-third of a man, and a useless member of society. Then take him to your schools and store his mind as full as a Webster, and bring him forth and he is but two-thirds of a man, and to uselessness is added dangerousness. Now take him up higher. Graduate him from the moral university. School him in the furnace of affliction. Put Christ in his heart and his plans and purposes. Zeal and courage, example and influence, work and worship, all together will round him up to the stature of a Lane, the intellect of a Bacon, and the spiritual potency of a Luther.

"God give us men—
A time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts,
True faith and willing hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not fill,
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will,
Men who have honor, men who will not lie,
Men who can stand before a demagogue
And tell his treacherous flattery without winking—
Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog
In public duty, and private thinking."

THE PRINTERS' STRIKE.

How it is Regarded by Impartial Judges—No Honest Grievance.

Ventura Free Press.]

Some of the printers employed on the Bulletin and Call "struck" last week, and as usual with the craft when a lot of mugginses run the Union, they were without an honest grievance. The work was satisfactory, the wages were satisfactory and the only pretense they had was that the proprietors refused, at half an hour's notice, to discharge some men and women who had been employed for years, because the latter would not join the Printers' Union. The proprietors of these two papers are the most liberal employers in San Francisco. But a few years ago every other daily paper in the city agreed to reduce the wages of the working printers, but Mr. Fitch and Mr. Pickering refused to accede to the scheme, and it failed. The Printers' Union knows that fact as well as we do. No one in their employ was ever asked whether he belonged to the Union or not. In fact, thirty-five of the Call's compositors and a like proportion of those of the Bulletin did belong to it. And these had the cheek to demand that all non-Union members, some of whom had served their apprenticeship in the office, should be discharged, merely because they would not join the Union. The "strike" did not embarrass either paper twenty-four hours, and the only consolation the strikers have is that they have lost life-long situations at good pay. The fools!

[The writer of the above, Mr. H. G. McLean, was formerly connected with the Bulletin office, and knows whereof he speaks.—ED. TIMES.]

Going Too Far.

San Luis Rey Star.]

On the 30th ult. thirty-two printers, members of the typographical Union of San Francisco, struck work in the Call office. They insisted that the ten other printers who are employed there, and who are non-union men, be discharged. This the proprietor of the Call refused to do, claiming in the management of his property he had the right to employ whomever he saw fit. Thereupon the thirty-two Unionists walked out. We look upon this demand on the part of the Union men as unjust, an attempt to "run things." Had these men been overworked and were striking for higher wages, we would look at the matter in a different light; but when the Union tries to dictate whom the proprietors of papers shall employ, it is going too far. A compositor whether Union or non-Union, as long as he does his work well, should be retained, and when a body of Union men demand that non-Union men be discharged, simply for their own gain, it is getting to be about time the Union men should quit. Let every proprietor of a paper be proprietor of the same and let him employ to do the work he has to pay for whomever he sees fit, regardless of the dictates of these Unions in such cases as this one. Man is born free and is entitled, in his employment, to the same work and pay as are the others. Therefore we do not sanction the strike. The strike of the telegraph operators we do sanction. They are worked hard day and night for very little pay, and they have struck for higher wages which the monopolizing, rich telegraphic companies can easily afford to pay. As a matter of justice, we hope the overworked operators may carry their point, but we cannot wish the same of the printers' unjust strike.

[The late unsuccessful strike in the TIMES office had as little provocation, and as little ground to stand upon, as had the unsuccessful strike in the offices of the Call and Bulletin. It involved no question of wages, no principle worthy of the name, and was absolutely without any justification in right. When men deliberately put themselves in the wrong their cause is weak and failure is inevitable.—ED. TIMES.]

Lecture on Music.

There was a very fine audience, last Saturday evening, at the woman's branch of the People's Club, to listen to a lecture on music, by Mrs. M. G C. Leavitt, of Boston. The subject is of universal interest, and we therefore feel warranted in giving a liberal synopsis of the lady's remarks.

Mrs. Leavitt began by saying —Music! the very mention of the word carries me to some memory of the past; to my mother's singing hymns; to the family gathered for daily worship in which father, mother, and children joined. I remember sitting many a time upon a rock by the lake-side, which nature had fashioned into a seat, listening to the sigh of the pine trees overhead, the soft lap of the wavelets on the sands at my feet, and thinking that no music could be lovelier than that; and having heard much fine and grand music since then, I am of the same opinion still.

I remember well the first day I spent on the seashore, at Nantasket Beach. During the afternoon a sudden and heavy thunder-storm arose, with very high wind. As I sat in the hotel, hearing the roar, the rush, often the shriek of the wind, mingled with the roll of thunder, the regular beat of breakers on the sand, and the boom against the rocks at one side. I realized how sounds harsh and terrific may be combined into one grand and sublime hymn.

Again, on a summer day, not many years since, I sat down in a mown hayfield to sun myself, and for a moment thought I had found a silent spot. But instantly a crow flew cawing from tree to tree in the distance; then from the wood rose the clear whistle of the bird, I do not know its name, and before these had ceased, from the stubbly grass around me, the shrill voice of the locust and the chirp of the cricket; and I bent my ear to listen, as well as my eyes to see, the tinier sounds from tinier insects, till I wondered if, provided some instrument could be invented that would do for the ear what the microscope has done for the eye, we should not find that we have been losing an infinitude of melody and harmony of which our dull ears take no note.

Mrs. Leavitt then gave the distinction between sound, music and noise; dwelt upon and illustrated the facts that without air there can be no sound, and on the other hand there can be none without motion. The speaker then gave, as the one generally received, the following definition of music: "An agreeable arrangement and combination of sounds, and the art of so combining them."

She said the three chief elements which enter into what may be called the body or framework of music are pitch—a difference as to being high or low, of length of note, from which arises time or rytum, and force of voice. All these may be learned by almost any person, as we can learn to read and write; but in expression, in the soul that breathes through and animates this form, the true musician speaks.

The speaker then gave a simple, but clear characterization of the different classes of instruments, and of the human voice, remarking that great compass of the voice, although desirable, does not constitute a good voice, but that quality is the great desideratum. She then mentioned the Sessi sisters, Catalini, Faranelli, as having a compass of three and a half octaves; Lucrezia Ajugari as having reached the highest note ever produced by the human voice, viz: the E, two octaves above the top space of the G clef; and Fisher the lowest, F, an octave lower than the F below the F clef.

The lecturer said that the science and the art of music were not born full-fledged. The Hebrews and Greeks probably derived theirs from the Egyptians. Very little is really known about the music of these early nations. The Romans made no progress beyond the Greeks. It was left for the early Christians to give the first great impulse to song. In the progress of the centuries since the Christian era, the scale has been developed, stricter and at the same time much more varied rythm, and more complex, has come to be employed. Forms of composition have been invented, notably the oratorio and opera, about the close of the sixteenth century.

Mrs. Leavitt then spoke of the division into secular and sacred song, and the different styles of secular song. Her daughter, Miss Edith Leavitt, a young lady endowed with a beautiful voice, which has been highly cultivated, gave as illustrations of different classes of secular songs, "The Farmer and the Pigeons," "Peacefully Slumber," "Roberto tu che adoro," "In Arcadie," "Supposing." Miss Leavitt's songs were received very cordially by the audience, and we predict for her a high stand among the vocalists of the day.

Mrs. Leavitt then spoke of the different forms of sacred music—the song, hymn, chant, etc., and of the oratorio as the highest, noblest form that musical composition has yet reached, demanding, as it does, the utmost skill of the most highly-endowed soloist, great bodies of well-trained chorus-singers, with full orchestra and organ. Besides, its themes lift the form of composition far above all others.

The speaker closed by saying that music should always be so used as to uplift and purify, and it finds its most fitting expression when uttering the true adoration of the heart to the author and framer of all music. Mrs. Leavitt and her daughter then sang "Jesus, Lover of my Soul," to the beautiful music called "Refuge," and the entertainment closed by a charming rendering by Miss Leavitt of "Consider the Lilies."

A Yankee Girl's Pluck.

Lucy Hooper in her letter to the Philadelphia Ledger says: I recently heard of an action on the part of a young American girl toward a French women insulter which has filled my soul with admiration and delight. The young lady in question, who is a refined, modest and high-bred young girl, is staying with some members of her family at one of the prominent hotels on the Avenue de l'Opera. As her dress and manners are alike unobtrusive, she has never hesitated to go out alone whenever business or inclination impelled her to do so. One would fancy that on that wide, brilliant avenue, in broad daylight, a quiet, modest, young lady, in the city deemed the center of the world's civilization, would be perfectly safe from annoyance or molestation of any kind; such was not the case.

For a few weeks past, whenever she ventured out alone, she was followed and accosted by a stylishly-dressed individual about forty-three years old, wearing the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor in his button-hole. This personage would not only follow her, but would address her in language of the fulsome, complimentary style; would thrust his face under her bonnet; would go a few steps in front of her, and would then look back and leer at her, and in fact he conducted himself in the manner that a well-bred Parisian gentleman naturally considers proper to assume when he meets an unprotected young girl. This went on for some time to the infinite annoyance of the young lady. Her tormentor never made his appearance when her brother was with her, or when there was a policeman in hailing distance—on these occasions he kept discreetly out of the way.

Finally, the other day the affair came to a climax. The young lady was returning to the hotel about three o'clock in the afternoon, when her persecutor made his appearance and began tormenting her as usual. The hunted girl, worried wearied and exasperated, was at last wrought up to the highest pitch of indignation and nervous excitement. Chancing to pass a cab stand, by a sudden impulse she snatched one of the driver's whips from its socket, and, turning on her tormentor, she cut him sharply across the face with the lash. Being taken by surprise, he started back and let fall his hat. As he stooped to pick it up, she followed up her advantage, raining blow after blow on his head and shoulders, so stunning and bewildering him that he was sometime in discovering his lost head gear, every moment of which she employed to the best advantage. At last, catching his rescued hat, he fled from the scene as fast as his legs could carry him, followed by the laughter and jeers of the whole line of cabmen, who heartily sympathized with the brave young heroine of the scene. And so one of the women insulters of Paris has at last met with his deserts, and at the hand of an American girl. I felt inclined to cry with the jolly old cabman when he received back his useful whip, "Bravo, mademoiselle That was well done.

Prohibition Does Prohibit.

TOPEKA; July 28.—This appears to be a very bad time of the year for the saloon element in Topeka, for those whisky sellers who have gone before the district court have been convicted by the juries to which their cases were submitted, while this morning several others whose cases were to have come up, took time by the forelock and anticipated their fates by pleading guilty, receiving sentence upon the various indictments against them. One of those who pleaded guilty this morning is the proprietor of the largest saloon in the city, and is a comparatively recent importation from St. Joseph, coming here after the election of our most excellent Governor. Whether these convictions will have the effect of closing up the saloons altogether or not, is the question, though the temperance people say they are in earnest and propose to push the campaign now they have entered upon it. They say they will not quit until every saloon is closed. Upon the other hand, the saloonists are in the dumps, having paid their money into the city treasury for permits to sell, they said they expected protection from the city administration, but instead of that they are hauled up and convicted, the city unable to aid them in any way, or migitate their sufferings. It is the easiest thing in the world to convict a saloon keeper now. When a man goes on the witness stand he knows that he must swear to the truth and no dodging. If he bought beer or went in with another man who bought it, he must say it was beer, and not sea foam; if he indulged in whisky or brandy, he can't "monkey" with the court by calling it cold tea or toothache drops. The average man knows the difference between beer and sea foam, and whisky and cold tea, though a year ago he didn't seem to. If the saloon keepers are to be fined heavily in the district court and then forced to pay an additional fine or license to the city, the prospects are that money making by the sale of liquor in Topeka is played out.

Temperance Notes.

A child six years of age, who had no home, father or mother, and who did not know her name, was charged with drunkenness in the Buffalo Police Court the other day.

Henry Ward Beecher says that more money is now spent for the devil of strong drink in New York every year than is contributed by all the churches to send gospel to the heathen.

We reap what we sow—oh! wonderful truth.
A truth hard to learn in the days of our youth:
But at last it shines out, as "the hand on the wall,"
For the world has its debt and its credit for all.
—H. Clay Preuss.

If there is one thing a woman may be excused for doing, it seems that she may be excused for trying to get the dram-shops closed, for dram-shops have wrought woe among women. Wives, mothers, daughters, they are the chief sufferers. A woman has small chance when a husband, a son, a father comes home drunk and begins to play the brute and the devil among the women folks of the house. Theirs is the beating, the kicking, the starving, the shame and the heart-breaking anguish. We men, considering how little we have done, might excuse women for trying to do a little to save themselves and their little ones from the desolations of strong drink.[Haygood.

Pleasantries.

When a school-girl becomes toned down isn't she an ex-pert?

What did the paper weight for! Probably for its ink—come.

Why are bores like trees? Because we love them best when they leave.

"Yes," said Brown, "I am the infant's stepfather, I suppose, for I found it in a basket on my doorstep."

Butler's Analogy: Professor—"Mr. T., you may now pass on to the "Future Life." Mr. T.—"Not prepared."

Take care of your nose. It is the only thing in your frameworks that has any feeling. It will dye for you(if you drink enough), and will bleed for you on the slightest provocation.—[Carl Pretzel's Weakly.

The lands of the Tulaips Indian Reservation, Oregon, are being alloted to the Indians thereon. Every Indian, the head of a family, gets 160 acres, and every adult Indian, not the head of a family gets 80 acres. There are about 375 Indians, all told, about 100 of whom are entitled to lands under the agreement.

The traditional shopkeeper prefers to keep his wares and stock for years than to part from them without his customary profit. He would rather retain remnants and refused merchandise than to regulate the price to its real saleable value.

Such merchants are neither progressive nor judicious, and people trading at such an institution soon find out to their dismay that merchandise, like iron, wheat or produce, sometimes declines in value.

The PEOPLES' STORE, by reason of its large trade, finds that periodically it is necessary to weed out the large creation of

ODDS AND ENDS

That naturally accumulates. These goods are at present writing being marked and placed on our Center Tables.

We have just reviewed the Odds and Ends and find remarkable good values amongst them, such as would interest mothers and heads of families.

GRANULA

PREPARED FROM WINTER WHEAT, Containing all the nutritious elements of that grain, and is the best food made for invalids and children. It is a TWICE COOKED FOOD, ready for immediate table use, and yet will keep in a dry place for years unaltered in quality. Unequaled as a diet for cases of nervous exhaustion and debility, constipation and dyspepsia. Has been tested for years by Dr. J. C. Jackson, in Our Home Hygienic Institute, upon all classes of invalids, with remarkable success. It is one of the cheapest foods in use, a pound of it containing more absolute nutriment for brain and body than an equal weight of any preparation in the market.
As a food for children it is unsurpassed.

HEALTH! HEALTH! HEALTH! HEALTH! HEALTH! HEALTH!

HEALTH restor ation of life prolonged to suffering humanity, by the most wonderful curative agents ever discovered. I invite the sick, no matter what their diseases may be, to call and investigate for themselves before abandoning all hope, for it will cost you nothing. I give no encouragement unless there is a fair prospect of making a cure. I will endeavor to be candid in my opinion, and reasonable in my charges. I claim not to cure everybody, but to cure all that can be cured. I am formerly from New York city, and a graduate of one of the best medical colleges in the United States, and a most thorough Electrician, and have had many years successful practice in the treatment of both acute and chronic diseases. To remove all doubts and convince my patients that I claim nothing but what I am, I refer to my diplomas and the numerous recommendations in my possession, which will always be ready for inspection at my office. I HAVE NO ONE CURE-ALL; nor do I make a hobby of any one mode of treatment. I use electricity or medicines or both, as each case requires. I find the cause of disease, remove it, and nature, assisted by medicinal remedies properly applied, will promote a cure without fail. TO THE LADIES. To the ladies I would say: You, whose sufferings have become intolerable, and who have suffered a thousand deaths from those diseases so common to your sex, give me a call, for I CAN CURE YOU WITHOUT FAIL, and make your lives once again worth living for. And all consultations will be strictly private and confidential. YOUNG MEN. To those young men who are suffering from year to year, and whose vital powers have become impaired, and nervous system unstrung and broken down, and are suffering all the horrors from the effects of youthful follies; COME AND SEE ME. I have a sure preventative of premature decay and early death. To those who from indiscretions have contracted private diseases, and are desirous of being cured, come without fail, for I can guarantee you a speedy cure. I treat with success all diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Head, Nerves, Kidneys, Bladder, Womb, Blood, Affections of the Urinary Organs, Gravel, Piles, Scrofula, Rheumatism Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Diseases of the Eye and Ear, etc., etc Consultation free at my office.

Wellington Coal.

Attention of the consumers of coal is called to the particularly excellent qualities of this coal for either steam, heating or cooking purposes. One ton of it is fully equal to three cords of wood. As a household coal for cooking or heating purposes it has no equal, selling for several dollars more per ton in the San Francisco market than any other coal imported for this particular use. This coal is for sale by all coal and wood yards. The undersigned is prepared to sell Wellington coal in carload lots of ten tons and upwards, from his coal bunkers or ships when discharging, at Wilmington, delivered anywhere along the line of the S. THE CITY.

Dots.

Considerable interesting local and other news matter, which had been put in type, is crowded out of to-day's TIMES.

A camp-meeting is being held at Willmore City and is largely attended.

There are only a few tents at Santa Monica Cañon, and her glory has departed.

The marriage license of E. Lassell and Mrs. M. E. Marston was filed for record yesterday.

There were filed for record yesterday sixteen deeds, eleven mortgages and three miscellaneous papers.

The track of the Hellman street railroad on First street, between Main and Spring has been completed.

Deputy Sheriff Gard arrested at the depot last night, on a telegram from Arizona, a man charged with bigamy.

Col. Gray has returned from San Francisco and is about commencing the construction of the Child's Opera House.

Wells, Fargo & Co. carry, free of charge, packages of fruits, wines, etc., destined for the Knights Templar headquarters in San Francisco.

A man, name unknown, was badly hurt at the depot yesterday by being crushed between the cars. He was taken to the hospital and Dr. Kurtz attended him.

Three swans were seen at the lake on Laguna ranch a few days ago. It may not be generally known, but swans are quite common in the vicinity of Los Angeles, and are frequently killed by hunters.

The steamer Amelia made her last trip for the season last Sunday. She had only a small passenger list, showing that the Santa Catalina season is about over.

Mrs. Leavitt, a temperance worker of Boston, delivered an address at the Congregational Church on Sunday evening, and also spoke to the Band of Hope at Good Templars' Hall on Sunday afternoon.

F. C. Howes, Cashier of the Los Angeles National Bank, is rejoicing in the possession of a Bartlett pear which weighs a pound and three-quarters. It was grown on his ranch near the University.

PERSONAL MENTION.

T. W. Coover, of Riverside, was in this city yesterday.

Mr. R. Carnohan, of Tucson, is at the United States Hotel.

Capt. Plummer, of the steamer Eureka, was in the city yesterday.

Major P. H. Downing, of Wilmington, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Frank Oakley, formerly local editor of the Tucson Star, is in the city.

State Printer J. J. Ayers returned yesterday from a visit to Santa Catalina Island.

Mr. F. W. Thompson, representative of the C. R. I. & P. R. R. Co. in Oregon, is at the Pacific.

Admiral Banning, of Wilmington, is just recovering from an accident he met in San Francisco.

Mr. John Church, of Citra, Florida, is at the Pico House. He comes to Los Angeles to investigate the capabilities and possibilities of our orange culture.

Duarte Doings.

Last week the weather was the warmest of the season, reaching at one time 96°. Oranges are still on the trees and, to the surprise of our eastern visitors, still retain their fine flavor. An orange was picked last week in Mr. Fowler's grove that measured sixteen inches in circumference. This we think will make Riverside hide her diminished head.

Charles Ferry is recovering slowly.

We succeeded in defeating the school house party. We have a good school house already and at present need no other.

Rev. Mr. Fisk has been sick for a week or two, and was unable to meet his regular monthly appointment on the 5th inst. We will be glad to welcome him, as he has recovered.

Several of the lots in front of Mr. Wise's have already been secured and improvements will soon be placed on them.

A Chinese wash house will soon be located here.

House building is going on rapidly and the Duarte will soon be next to Los Angeles in importance.

The two grooms were at the church on Sunday and the charming brides were there also, looking their best.

GLAUCERON.

Fine Fruit.

A lot of magnificent fruit was sent to the TIMES office yesterday with the compliments of the donors. D. Sturgis, of Vernon district, sent a fine variety of peaches, two of them measuring in circumference 11¼ and 11 inches respectively. H. P. Benedict, of Boyle Heights, sent Rose Peru and Muscat grapes weighing from 2½ to 3 pounds to the bunch, and some excellent peaches from a three-year-old tree. The grapes were raised on two-year-old vines.

No amusement for a long time has been so popular with the young people of Los Angeles as that offered at the skating rink, on Spring street, opposite Turnverein Hall. Roller-skating is a healthy, invigorating sport, and the new rink is daily crowded with gentlemen and ladies who seem to fully appreciate it. jy31-1m

KICKS AT THE KICKERS.

The Preposterous Printers' Strike Paralyzed in Paragraphs.

Five of the striking compositors resolved themselves into a committee on Sunday and visited two girls who were guilty of earning an honest living in the TIMES office, and by various persuasions sought to induce them to leave the office. They failed in their attempt, and one of the girls gave them a lecture which they will probably remember for some time.

One of the strikers threw a brick through a window of the TIMES composing room on Sunday night. This may be gentlemanly conduct, but there are grave doubts attached to it. The brick did no harm except to the strikers.

In addition to the brick a handful of loose dirt was thrown against a window where the watchman was sitting. The dirt scattered as badly as the aims of the strikers, and no injury was done by it. This sort of thing is as impotent as the hissing of a goose.

The steady, hard-working Union men, the men of character, who have families to support in this city, are not in sympathy with the strikers, and express the belief that they struck on insufficient grounds.

The strikers are composed of malcontents. They would not be contented if the office was turned over to their management, as they desire.

The manifesto which the strikers circulated yesterday uses some very hard words, but adduces no sound arguments; in fact they have no arguments to produce. The question of wages did dot enter into the controversy. They were all earning good wages. The TIMES pays the Union rates. The question to be decided was: Shall the Union employees dictate the management of the office, or shall the proprietors do so? The proprietors have decided to manage their own affairs. The strike is a failure.

The Union men who stood by the TIMES office have established reputations for probity and honorable conduct as printers and as men, which cannot be smirched or destroyed by the senseless denunciations of a despotic league.

The strikers are loud in their protestations of peaceable intentions. All the same, they have been guilty of lawless acts and violent threats.

Certain overtures of compromise coming from the strikers cannot be entertained by the proprietors of the TIMES. They involve dishonorable terms, which, in justice to ourselves and the men who are standing by us, we can never accept.

TELEPHONE TALK.

Whispers Along the Wire to the Inner Office.

Ting-a-ling-ling!

"Who is it?"

"A free American citizen I want to know who in thunder originated the new street sign posts. He was a brilliant genius, wasn't he? Is the Board of Public Works composed of artists?"

"The brilliant genius who originated the new street sign posts has been commissioned by the Governor to erect similar ones at all the cross roads in the State. Rest easy, friend. The and you live in will soon be a thing of b—booty and a joy for never. The Board of Public Works know a good thing when they see it."

"Hello! TIMES, hello!

I'm Willmore—Willmore of Willmore City, you know. Things are just booming down my way, including the surf. There are more campers here than you could count in a week of Sundays, and they are just as happy as angels, every one of 'em. They would not exchange Willmore City for Abraham's bosom, with a harp thrown in. No sharks, no devil fish, no Probys, no nothing. Everything is just lovely, Santa Monica won't be anywhere in a year from now, and don't you let it elude your memory. Well, solong, I have got more work to do than any man in the county. Solong."

"Wake up, Central Office! Somebody is calling the TIMES."

"Oh, you're there, are you, Mr. TIMES? I would like to ask if you are not afraid your new city editor will get himself into trouble? What does he mean by giving such full reports of the Court proceedings? Don't he know that he is liable to be punished for contempt of court? He had better 'look a leedle oudt?' If you don't believe it, ask the District Attorney. Well, good night. A word to the wise is enough, you know. Ta-ta."

"Hello! Hel—"

"Who is it, Central Office?"

"Well, Scott, what is the matter with you?"

"Matter? Matter enough! Who has been telling you stories about sharks and devil-fish at Santa Monica? There hasn't been a shark or a devil-fish here since the lamented Proby drowned himself. It's all a base fabrication. And the idea of me building an aquarium to house devil-fish in. It's ridiculous, sir, ridiculous. Santa Monica never was in better condition. Glorious climate, delicious bathing, lots of pretty girls, and all manner of entertainment. We can't keep invalids here at all. They usually get well in a couple of days. Willmore City won't be anywhere in a year from now, and don't you disremember it. Good bye. See you later."

"I say, TIMES, have you got any legal light about your establishment? Please tell me if Justice Ling can legally hold court on a non-judicial day, Sunday for instance."

"Refer you to the Proby case. Is that all?"

"That's all: au revoir."

"How is the strike, Mr. TIMES? Do you still survive?"

"Able to be around. The paper is still alive and kicking. It will continue to be published semi-occasionally, if not oftener. The subscription price will remain the same. Call at the business office."

"Where are you, Central Office? Call the TIMES. Can you tell an old and valued subscriber why it is there are no literary or social clubs in Los Angeles? Do you know of any clubs here?"

"The subject is a mystery. Several clubs have been heard of here, however. There is the policeman's club, Emperor Savarieg's club, and the ace of clubs. Give Los Angeles time and she will have all the other kin ds."

"Central Office, call lawyer Kingsbury."

"All right—what's wanted?"

"Mr. Kingsbury, what is your opinion about the Proby case? The case was set for Sunday evening at 10 o'clock; but when the time arrived the Court did not appear."

"Bother Proby! I'm sick of the whole business. I think the Justice was guilty of a misdemeanor in not appearing at the time set for examination. I cannot find any statute to the contrary."

"Why did you not raise the issue at the examination yesterday?"

"Mind your own business. I haven't got time to answer such foolish questions. If the Court don't know herself, she ought to. Good bye."

THE PROBY CASE.

Justice Ling Fails to Appear on Sunday Night.

The Defendant Examined on Monday Morning and Held to Answer Before the Superior Court.

Several persons interested in the Proby examination gazed at the dark windows of Justice Ling's court-room on Sunday night in blank astonishment. Owing to a legal quibble the Justice on Friday last peremptorily set the case for Sunday evening at 10 o'clock. He did not appear, however, and the persons referred to in the opening sentence of this article haunted the corridors of the building like Banquo's ghost, and one or two of them, like Rachael, refused to be comforted. They were finally compelled to swallow their disappointment and accept the evident fact that the case had been postponed by the Justice for the express purpose of taking advantage of the statute which provides that when a case is set for a non-judicial day it shall go over to the next judicial day.

Yesterday morning Justice Ling was promptly on the bench, and the case of the people vs. Robert Proby, et als., was called at 10 o'clock, the attorneys, Mr. Lucas for the prosecution and Kingsbury & Denis for the defense, being in attendance.

The Justice stated that he had been informed that the defendant, Proby, was sick and unable to attend.

The defendant's counsel replied that Proby was present and was able to proceed with the examination.

MR. WICKS ON THE STAND.

Mr. F. Wicks was the first witness, testifying substantially as follows:—Recognize defendant from a photograph his wife once brought to my office. Know Baden. Am acquainted with the Legion of Honor. It is a mutual insurance company, and defendant was insured is it for $5000 in favor of his wife, Minnie Proby. The condition was that on due proof of his death the money should go to his wife. Baden and Zeron came to my office to make affidavits of the death of Proby on the 30th of October, 1882. (Copies of the affidavits were produced and identified by witness.) The affidavits were made in pursuance of regulations of the Legion of Honor, and they, together with the affidavit of Minnie Proby, were sent to the Lodge at Will's Point, Texas, where the money was to be paid.

OBJECTIONS TO THE AFFIDAVITS.

Mr. Kingsbury objected to the admission of the papers in evidence, on the ground that they were not the original affidavits and were not signed by anybody.

Witness stated that to the best of his knowledge the originals were in Boston, Massachusetts, the headquarters of the order.

Kingsbury—I never heard of papers of this kind being introduced as evidence unless it was impossible to procure the originals. It is not impossible here. These documents do not purport to be certified copies of the originals, and although the witness might be allowed to use them to refresh his memory, they cannot be introduced as evidence.

Lucas—There is no such thing as a certified copy except of public records.

The Court—No doubt the original affidavits would be the best evidence, but the witness testifies that they are in Boston and therefore out of the jurisdiction of this court. As there seems to be no valid objection, let the copies be admitted as evidence in the case.

DEPUTY SHERIFF GARD'S TESTIMONY.

Deputy Sheriff Gard testified: Know defendant. Made the arrest, at La Puente station, on the Southern Pacific railroad. He was working as a carpenter on the warehouse of Gilmore & Book. He said his name was Osborne, called him by his proper name and told him I had a warrant for his arrest. He acknowledged that his name was Proby.

Lucas—Do you know anything about the affair at Santa Monica?

Witness—Defendant volunteered information about it to me. He said that while he was in the water at Santa Monica he had a slight cramp. The moon was shining, and in the moonlight he could see Zeron swimming out toward him. He could hear others on the beach calling out that a man was drowning. He managed to turn over on his back, and while floating in this position he concluded to make this play for the benefit of the children. He had an idea of leaving his wife, and the idea struck him that this would be a good time to leave the money for his wife and children. He swam out, went to the tent and got a suit of clothes, and went to Oregon and Washington Territory. Understood him to say he was away about seven months. When he found this thing was not a success and his family would not get the money he received. He said he had been intimate with Baden for a long while. He and Baden met Zeron in San Francisco and induced him to come to Santa Monica; believe that is about the version of his story to me. He said he alone was responsible for the wrong, if any wrong had been committed, which he did not believe.

HELD TO ANSWER.

Cross examination.—I asked him if he had had any trouble with his wife. He said, "no, nothing to amount to anything." He said he would be willing to be hung if he could talk to his wife one hour before he died.

Lucas.—The prosecution rests.

Kingsbury.—We have no witnesses.

The Court.—No witnesses at all? No defense?

Kingsbury.—No, sir.

The Court.—It appearing to the satisfaction of the Court that there is reason to believe the defendant guilty, he will be held to answer before the Superior Court, with bail fixed at $500.

Suicide of Wm. C. Howe.

On last Sunday morning a young man 25 years old named Wm. C. Howe committed suicide at the residence of his brother, J. M. Howe, on Sixth street, near Spring. He was discovered in his room by his mother about twelve o'clock. He had shot himself through the head with a pistol. Coroner Nadeau held an inquest on the body last Sunday afternoon. The brother of the deceased testified that he had been absent in Santa Ana for three weeks, returning on Friday; that he lived at his (witnesses,) house; that he took breakfast with the family on the morning of the suicide, but had no appetite and complained of feeling bad; that he noticed nothing in his action, nor did he indicate by words any intention of comiting suicide; and that when his mother found him he was dead.

Dr. Walter Lindley testified that he had been treating deceased for a disease which was likely to affect the mind.

The jury found that the deceased came to his death from the effects of a pistol wound, inflicted by his own hand while laboring under temporary aberration of mind.

A Vineyard Sold.

Frank Sabichi yesterday sold ninety-two acres of land on the east side of the river, with the improvements thereon, to V. Beaudry, the consideration being $60,000. There are sixty-six acres in vineyard, the remainder being mesa land. The place was sold through W. R. Huff, who received $1800 as his commission on the sale.

DR. ZAHN'S PETITION.

Re Prefers Serious Charges Against Victor Beaudry.

As may be seen by reference to the report of the Council proceedings on Saturday night, published in the TIMES on Sunday morning, Dr. J. C. Zahn preferred serious charges against Victor Beaudry regarding the alleged wrongful management of his water-works in this city, and the petition was referred to the Zanja Committee.

In order that the public may understand what the charges referred to are, the petition, as presented to the Council, is given in full below:

To the Honorable Mayor and Council of the City of Los Angeles, California.

GENTLEMEN:—Having petitioned your honorable body on June 9th, 1883, about certain water business and trouble between myself and Mr. Victor Beaudry, which was then referred to the Finance Committee in conjunction with the City Attorney. After five or six weeks delay a report was put in by the City Attorney to the effect that if Mr. Beaudry was charging higher rates than the Los Angeles Water Company, he, Mr. B., was thus violating the former and present city ordinances; his franchise could, by taking proper action, be revoked; and he, the City Attorney, also stated verbally before your honorable body at that time, that he had heard so many complaints concerning the above. It was then referred back to the Finance Committee, in conjunction with the City Attorney, for further investigation. After two weeks a report was handed in by the City Attorney advising your honorable body to the effect not to be too rash in taking the franchise from Mr. B. till other means could be devised, for all the people on the hill would be starved out for want of water. That last report will certainly please Mr. B. first-rate, for now he, Mr. B., can rule and reign as a sovereign king over his franchise, waterworks and his customers as he pleases, etc.

Now, gentlemen of the Council, here is the original petition, put in on the 9th of June, 1883, viz:

Having made application on the fifth day of June, 1883, to Mr. Victor Beandry's waterworks to supply my two houses on lot 20, block X, and lot 20, block S, Mott tract, fronting on Third street, with main from his immediately in front of said lots. But on applying, he, Mr. B., gave me a paper to sign, which read thus: "I hereby agree to take water from the Beaudry Water Works, at the rate per month, payable in advance, in U. S. gold coin, for household purposes $2; sprinkling, $1; bath-tub, $1; closets, 75 cents; slakeing lime, 20 cents per barrel; horse, 25 cents; cow, 25 cents; over five persons, 25 cents each.

And I hereby expressly waive all provisions of the ordinances of the city of Los Angeles, California, relative to the fixing of water rates, and make this a special contract, fixing the above rates regardless of such ordinances." After having read it carefully, I found it was a contract to establish and uphold Mr. B on charges defying all city ordinances. I said to Mr. B. that I would never sign such a contract, as it was directly in opposition to our city government, that is, against the Mayor and Council of the city of Los Angeles, for it would create, establish and uphold a water-monopoly, to which I would make myself a party to accomplish Mr. B's. designs. But Mr. B said, if I would not sign the contract, I could have no water; there the matter rests at present.

Now, it is for your honorable body to decide on that question, whether Mr. B. is justified to lead and compel people to sign such a contract, which is in opposition to the present and former city government of the city of Los Angeles, California. For Mr. Beaudry's franchise see page 160 of Gaswell's ordinances, which reads as follows:

"That the mayor and common council shall have, and hereby do reserve the right to regulate the price of such water, that the prices of water shall not be a greater rate than that charged by the Los Angeles Water Company."

All I ask from your honorable body is to compel Mr. Victor Beaudry not to lead and compel people who apply for water, to sign an illegal, defying, stubborn, rebellious contract, to use people as his dupes, to accomplish his, Mr. Beaudry's selfish, unconscientious designs, and to my mind it is very easy done.

An injunction to restrain Victor Beaudry from entering and forcing A. & B., & C., into an illegal contract. That A. & B. & C., are citizens of the United States, City of Los Angeles, State of California. And it is asked that an injunction be made permanent, restraining Victor Beaudry from entering and forcing A. & B. & C., into an illegal contract and violating and defying the former and present city ordinances, etc.

Now, gentlemen of the council, fifteen in number, to counsel together, with a city attorney, to advise, a mayor to approve, you have the power to uphold your city ordinances, and a constitutional law to assist, protect and defend you, why should a single man be able to defy seventeen men who are put in office by the people of Los Angeles, to govern said city just and impartial to all who love justice and ask for protection?

I am Gentlemen, your obedient servant,

DR. J. C. ZAHN.

Los Angeles, 18, 1883.

It is proper to state in behalf of Mr. Stephenson, on the City Attorney, that he gives as a reason for the five weeks' delay, of which Dr. Zahn complains, that he was in San Francisco on other city business for several weeks, and consequently did not have time to attend to the matter sooner. He also states that another reason for the delay was the fact that he had advised the City Council not to take any steps to compel Mr. Beaudry to shut down his works until some other means had been provided to furnish people on the hill with water. As a matter of justice to the City Attorney his statement of the cause of the delay is made public.

MINING NEWS.

The Rich Calico and Oro Grande Districts.

From a gentleman who has just returned from Calico and Oro Grande mining districts, the following points were obtained yesterday concerning the mines there, which are at present yielding a rich income to their owners, and contributing not a little to the present prosperity of this city.

The Oro Grande Mining Company was organized three or four years ago for the purpose of developing some prospects near the Mojave River, in San Bernardino county. An expensive mill, run by water, brought in a flume from the river, was erected, and considerable work was done for a time on the prospects.

After the company had been organized about a year Calico district was developed and the rich mines there began to attract attention. Some of the Calico ore was fabulously rich, especially that of the King Mine, the Burning Moscow, the Garfield and the Oriental group, and the capitalists who had been slowly developing the Oro Grande prospects, with rather unsatisfactory results, began to turn their attention to the new mines. The old Company disbanded and the control of the Oro Grande Mill passed into the hands of Messrs. Bradley, Sanger and Wells of Milwaukee, Wis., and Col. H. H. Markham of Pasadena, in this county, the latter an experienced mining man. This new organization not only obtained control of the mill but also purchased the King mine from the original locators, one condition of the sale being that they should ever afterwards reserve one-quarter of the net proceeds. The mill was enlarged and a contract made with R. Nadeau, of this city, to convey the ore from Calico to Oro Grande. This contract is still in existence, and the Company regularly pays Mr. Nadeau between $6,000 and $7,000 per month. Besides this sum of money, a large proportion of which reaches this city and county, nearly all the necessary feed and supplies are purchased here. The mining interests of Los Angeles county are destined to attain great prominence in the history of her future development and commercial progress.

A hot pursuit of the Yosemite stage robbers has been inaugurated. They are now supposed to be Mono county horse thieves. A reward of $1,600 is offered for their capture.

The quartz of Shasta, placer and gravel of Trinity, placer, quartz, and river-mining of Siskiyou, indicate a great future in reserve for those counties.
